Handbook Of Hazardous Chemical Properties
The novel opens with Aunt Polly searching the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out dramatically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper. His clothes are dirty and he explains that he was skipped school that afternoon and went everywhere. The coffee is still warm but cold, Tom’s half-brother, Joe, has already eaten it. Aunt Polly is satisfied.

Tom goes out of the house in search of whistling. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, he is overpowered and accosted. Tom and the new arrival are eventually chased out of the way house.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirty clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Ian passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a “shade alley,” a kind of noose. Ian almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
The novel opens with Aunt Polly scrounging the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with ink, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically, “Look behind you!” and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom’s mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper. Mrs. Sawyer asks him about his adventures. During supper, Aunt Polly suggests that Tom be skipped school that afternoon and sent on a message to the drugstore. Tom’s half-brother, Sam, has left the house, and Tom, feeling left out, plans to start a prank. Aunt Polly is satisfied, but Tom’s half-brother, who is out of town, will visit later that evening. Tom has sworn the boys will not disrupt his plans.

Tom goes out of the house in the evening, and he is soon engaged in a terrible storm. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, he sees a man being attacked by a group of boys. Tom resolves to help, but he is too late. The man is beaten, and Tom is forced to run away.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.
